Application for IAPS Membership

National Committee

Introduction

Thank you for taking the time to complete an application for membership in the International Association of Physics Students as a National Committee. National Committees, abbreviated as NC, make up the workhorses of our organisation. As an NC, you are able to represent your country on the international stage.

If you have any questions regarding the application process, the benefits of creating a National Committee, or how to put together a successful application, feel free to reach out to the Recruitment Manager at recruitment@iaps.info.

Executive Committee

Please list your leadership team, including designating an IAPS Delegate. This IAPS Delegate will represent your Committee on the IAPS Delegate's Council. They can be different people from your President or be the same person. In case you have a large leadership team, it is not necessary to list all members of the team. The most important are the President and the IAPS Delegate.

Membership

This is for our records in calculating the number of total IAPS members there are. The number of represented students is the estimated number of physics students in the City that your National Committee would represent. The number of individual members is the number of students that are actively involved in your National Committee.

Number of represented students

Number of local groups (if applicable)

Number of individual members (if applicable)

The students' representatives of the National Committee above declare that they have provided no wrong information and that they accept the Charter, Regulations, Code of Conduct as well as Terms & Conditions of the International Association of Physics Students (IAPS).

For completion of your IAPS membership application, please send this form signed to recruitment@iaps.info.
